Hay Yields Increased By Top-Dressing

FARMERS in this section are now getting in the soil, lower yields of hay result, by proper fertilization. The hay in foreground was not fertilized, whereas the hay in background was top-dressed. Twenty per cent phosphate was applied in the fall at the rate of 200 pounds per acre. Note the fine clover on the fertilized area that developed into a fine crop the following year.

old and new alfalfa and clover stands fertilized early this fall will result in stronger root systems and less waterlogging in the spring. Alfalfa and clover crops require large amounts of plant food and unless sufficient amounts are given the crops will be weak and will not stand the winter.

A SOCIETY NOTES.

All the Kentucky colonels of the country have organized a national society, and it is understood they will hold their convention in the Yale Bowl.

The trouble with the proposed six-hour day and the day week in the building trades is that too many people would learn that a tent can be erected in the four-minute hour.
